

Introducing The Family History Guide

<http://www.thefhguide.com>

The Family History Guide is a free website that helps you learn to use FamilySearch and achieve success in your genealogy. It has links to thousands of articles and videos on family history, all included in a step-by-step learning system. The website also has a complete Training section to help you teach family history classes without having to build your own materials.

This website is an approved training resource for FamilySearch. You can access the website at <http://www.thefhguide.com/>. If you have questions about using the site, please send us an email at <mailto:info@thefhguide.com>. Here are some additional links to help you get started on the site:
